Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottle free at Hodgkinson & Co's Drug Store.

Unnecessary Misery.

Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. Twenty-five cents at all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co., proprietors, S. F.

E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother was also very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malarial Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequalled. Price 50c and $1, at Hodgkinson & Co.'s.

Live Stock Miscellany.

Governor Alva Adams has appointed the customary State Board of Cattle Inspection, as provided for by the Colorado statutes by naming the following: William Withers, Las Animas; H. B. Cullum, Denver; A. A. Mermod, South Park; M. Fulwiler, Grand Junction; W. H. Cranmer, Elbert; Nat. Nathan, San Luis; D. B. Wyatt, Eaton; A. M. Pryor, Pueblo; and John Niblock, Meeker.

Colonel W. A. Harris of Linwood, Kansas, last week received a new importation of Cruickshank cattle from Scotland. The animals were the best that the Colonel could find at Sittyton, and he was fortunate in selecting and shipping before the recent quarantine embargo was laid upon Sittyton, where pleuro-pneumonia has broken out quite lately.

The Animas and Florida cattle pool held a meeting in Durango last week. The Idea says the past season has been fairly successful though prices have not ranged quite so high as in former years. During the year 1,500 head have been branded. The officers of the association are: H. W. Cox, President; Dr. W. H. C. Folsom, Secretary; and W. A. Perry, Treasurer.

The number of feeding steers in Colorado will aggregate fully 50,000 head. On every farm of importance in the State some cattle are being fed preparatory for the spring and summer market. The mountains are full of feeders and the foothill farms are nearly all supplied with them. These cattle will be put on grass awhile before going to market, and will be turned out in elegant condition.

The Texas cattle barons are making a few considerable sales of live stock and preparations are now going on for gathering and delivering. But it is only prime young steers that are bought—such likely stock as can be fattened quickly and forced rapidly for early market. No breeding stock is taken for the northern ranges and many of the old-time cattlemen in the north are spaying and castrating in contemplation of more beef for fall shipment. Goodness only knows when this transformation scene will end the great comedy.

Buffalo Bill is credited by the Breeders' Journal with giving the following testimony for the Herefords: "Grade up," he is reported to have said in a recent interview with a reporter, "but don't grade up too fine." He then goes on to say that a mixed blood, that is, a cross-bred animal, can stand the hardships on the ranch better than a pure-blood. In other words it is more hardy. "The Herefords are good," says Bill, "and so are the Polled-Angus. The latter is a tip-top rustler—that is, looks out for himself. But the Hereford is the one I like; he is beef down to his heels."

Irritation of the Throat and all lung troubles are quickly relieved and permanently cured by Fryer's Abietene Cough Balsam. (It contains no Opium.) Price, 75 cents. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

Until the Skin was Raw, Body Covered with scales like spots of mortar. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the first of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, and then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began using the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

The following test will be required of each and every voter at the said Primary Election: "I am a citizen of this State, and will support the nominees of the Republican party."

The Republican electors in this State and voters without regard to past political affiliations, difference or action, who believe in the American principle of a protective tariff for the defense and development of home industries and the elevation of home labor, who would reduce the national taxes and prevent the accumulation of a surplus in the Treasury, in harmony with this principle; who are opposed to the attempt, now more openly avowed than ever before to establish a policy which would strike down American labor to the level of the underpaid and oppressed workers of foreign lands; who favor naval and coast defenses, which will enable the United States to conduct international negotiations with self-respect; who gratefully cherish the defenders of our country; who condemn and resent continued and unjust exclusion of rapidly growing Territories, which have an indisputable title to the admission to the sisterhood of States; who favor free schools and popular education, a free and honest ballot and a fair count; the protection of every citizen of the United States in his legal rights at home or abroad; a foreign policy that shall extend our trade and commerce to every land and clime and properly support the dignity of the nation, and the promotion of friendly and harmonious relations and intercourse between all the States, "and in favor of the absolute exclusion of all Asiatics, paupers, insane, criminals, and persons known as Communists, Nihilists or Anarchists, and limiting all further immigration and a revision of our naturalization and land laws, the excessive fraudulency of which causes the undesirable addition to our surplus labor," are cordially invited to unite under this call in the formation of a national ticket.

THE efforts of the free trade organs to prove that it is not free trade to put articles on the free list by the wholesale are more amusing than effective. When the free trade organs say that "it is wholly a practical matter of reducing the revenue," with which the question of free trade has nothing to do, they are careful not to mention the 172 specific articles of the Mills bill. In this connection they do not even mention free wool. So long as the people can read it will be impossible to convince them that there is any difference between putting articles on the free list and free trade. And the American opinion of free trade is pretty well fixed, so far as this country is concerned.

THE election of the ex-Confederate General Joseph E. Johnston as a contributing member of a Grand Army Post has naturally aroused considerable feeling. Many who would welcome General Johnston as a friend think that to admit to Grand Army membership under any conditions one who is not an honorably discharged soldier or sailor of the Union, would be to rob that association of its distinctive character. Many might appreciate the good feeling which prompted General Johnston's contribution and even accept it as the free gift of a once worthy foe who has become a friend, without abandoning the principle born in the battle smoke of the great Rebellion.

AN excited Canuck threatens that if we do not adopt the fisheries treaty we shall "hear nearer and nearer the mighty voice of British cannon." There is a refreshing variety about this, for if the truth be told we were growing rather weary of that single Chilean war ship that was to knock us all into a cocked hat.

OF the 10,000 immigrants landed at New York within the forty-eight hours ending Monday noon, many are said to be booked for California, Nevada and Oregon. They will be welcome if they are of the right kind, as the fact of their being bound direct for this coast argues the possession of better judgment and more money than most immigrants have.

A MISSISSIPPI postmaster has been shot by an editor, first taking the precaution to shoot the editor. They are both dead, and there is doubt about why they did it, but it is believed to have been caused by the postmaster's refusal to "hang up" the editor's letter postage.

THE authorities at Melbourne have refused to permit the landing of a steamer load of Chinese. Is there no habeas corpus mill there by the operation of which a law intended to protect the liberties of Englishmen may be wrested to their industrial oppression?

"NOMINATE A WINNER."

The Friends of Congressman Woodburn Aggrieved.

Mr. Woodburn closed his telegram to his friend when he announced that he was not a candidate, "Nominate a Winner." This was excellent advice, says the Enterprise, but from the tone of the dispatch it would almost seem as though he did not want to see a winner nominated. His friends here who have stood by him for years, who have forborne pressing their claims in deference to what the party regarded as his superior availability, are exhibiting much discontent at his suggestion that he has been fighting his own side. Other candidates for nomination meet with opposition before the convention meets, but they do not feel that they are fighting their own side. They are making a friendly contest in the party. While he was a probable candidate other gentlemen of this county, who are entitled by ability and party service to aspire to State offices, held back in obedience to the unwritten law of political apportionment, and they and their friends, all of them his friends, feel aggrieved that the first notification of his withdrawal should come through another county. They think that they were entitled to the earliest information as to his intentions, and while indorsing his conclusion, "Nominate a Winner," do not relish his remark about fighting his own side. Mr. Woodburn has been a popular and strong man in his own party, but he has displeased many who were once his willing and useful supporters. They think that if he could not let his friends know his intentions in time to act, he might at least have trusted them with his first intimation, and that he could, with perfect propriety, have omitted that part of the message which intimates that they have not been true to him and the party.

OVER THE WIRES.

THE CATTLE TRUST.

Vest and Plumb Air the Gigantic Steal in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—In the Senate yesterday the bill was taken up for the establishment of a Bureau of Animal Industry and to facilitate exports of live stock and their products. Vest said if half of what was stated in correspondence was true the Commissioner of Agriculture should be hurled out of official life disgraced and dishonored. But he (Vest) did not believe such statements. He should not support the bill. He proceeded to speak of what he called "The Cattle Syndicate," and said the people were helpless and in its power. Here were five men or firms in the city of Chicago which regulated the price of cattle every day by their manipulation of market prices. These men owned cattle raisers' property and confiscated it as if they possessed the right to take it from his farm without paying him one cent. "Talk," said Vest, "about trusts; talk about pools. The cattle pool of Chicago is the most infamous tyranny that ever existed in the United States."

Plumb had also something to say on the same subject. In his opinion, the worst combination in the country was that of the beef and pork packers having its headquarters in Chicago. There was no trust or combination that had so powerful or so baneful an influence as that combination. For years the prices of cattle to producers had been going down. They had gone down, he thought, fifty per cen. In the same time the price of meat to consumers had gone up, and every single dollar of difference had gone into the pocke's of that combination. Under the operation of this trust prices had declined unnecessarily and destructively. It was safe to say that on every steer three years old and upwards raised west of the Mississippi river during the past five years the market value had been by this combination reduced not less than $10 per head.

The damage to the State of Kansas alone during that period would be far more than $40,000,000, and the wealth of the syndicate had grown proportionately. They had a committee here now, having in their pockets money of the stock ring to get Congress to give them control of the question of cattle quarantine. This "combine" had allies in the railroad managers. They had allies in railroads. Step by step they had come to the final condition where they actually fixed the prices of cattle, just as if they were the men who raised them. He believed in giving the Commissioner of Agriculture all the powers proposed to be given to the Commission, and he would not vote for any measure that would detract from the power and dignity of that department.

Guarding the Crown Prince.

LONDON, May 5.—The following, dated May 1st, has been received by special messenger from Berlin: There are grave fears of a social uprising here. When the Crown Prince rode out to the Reviewing Ground to-day, extraordinary precautions for his safety were taken, and mounted police rode beside him. When they arrived at Linden and Frederich streets the police turned their backs to the Prince, faced the crowd and watched closely. This maneuver was kept up until the Prince was safely in the palace. When the Czar was here and fears of an attempt on his life were entertained, the police acted in exactly the same way. Double the usual number of policemen were posted all along the route taken by the Crown Prince, and a large force of detectives in citizens' clothes patrolled the city.

After Many Days.

MEXICO, Mo., May 5.—Sheriff Bennett brought Robert Clanton to this city yesterday heavily ironed. Clanton is charged with the murder of L. Coates and Stephen and Jerome Maddox in Portland, Callaway county, in 1863. Clanton and his brother were Northern men, and the three men who met their fate were Southern sympathizers. It was a hand-to-hand conflict on the street. Clanton was arrested a few days ago in Texas, where he had married and become wealthy.

Blaine's Brother Bounced.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Robert G. Blaine, brother of the Maine statesman, who for several years has been Curator of the Agricultural Department, has been removed. His resignation was brought about by the pressure of several Democratic Congressmen, who did not see the necessity for keeping in office a brother of the Republican standard-bearer while so many able and deserving members of their own party have received no recognition from the Administration.

A Border Shooting Affray.

WARDNER, Idaho, May 5.—A shooting affray occurred yesterday morning at Wardner Junction, in which four men were wounded. The principals were Miles McNally of the Cricket Theater of this place on one side, and County Commissioner Pat McGovern and Jack Dillon on the other. McGovern and Dillon were badly wounded; a bystander named George Owens is not expected to live.

Checkmating the Pope.

LONDON, May 5.—The Irish leaders, to counteract the effect of the Pope's edict, are preparing a circular calling upon the members of the National League to stand firm, and arranging for twenty simultaneous league meetings. A banquet is to be given in honor of Parnell by eighty clubs on Monday of next week. An important statement with regard to the Papal rescript is expected from Parnell on that occasion.

A Gay Lothario Ducked.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 5.—William Milligan, a farmer residing near Derbyville, Pickaway county, eloped with Mrs. Ezra Dodrae. He returned home last night, when Milligan was caught by his neighbors, tarred and feathered, thrown into a creek and nearly drowned. He was severely whipped and warned to leave the country immediately.

An Insane Lawyer.

DENVER, Col., May 5.—Ben Robbins of Kentucky, recently appointed Assistant United States District Attorney for Colorado, who attempted suicide by cutting his throat, is thought to be hopelessly insane. He is confined in the hospital, where he is constantly raving over an imaginary wrong done him or an attempt upon his life.

A BROTHER'S BLOOD.

A Sensational Fratricide in Virginia City.

The following account is taken from the Virginia Report of yesterday:

At about 12:15 o'clock to-day people in the vicinity of Black's building, on the corner of Taylor and C streets were startled by the reports of two pistol shots, and upon investigation by the crowd which soon gathered, it was ascertained that John L. Black had shot and killed his brother Samuel.

The tragedy occurred in the basement of the above-mentioned building, in a room used by Samuel Black as a toolroom and workshop. The body of the dead man was found upon the floor in a pool of blood, with a ghastly bullet wound just to the left of the left nipple, and with the frontal bone of the skull crushed in.

James Jewel and Samuel Porteous, who went into the building, say that when they entered the victim of the shooting was sitting up on the floor, but immediately fell back. Tom Dick, who entered a moment later, says that in answer to a question if whether Black knew him, the latter's lips moved, but that he died in a few minutes afterwards.

ORIGIN OF THE KILLING.

It seems that the three Black brothers Samuel, John and Andrew, owned the property on the corner of Taylor and C streets, in the following interests: John, one-half; Samuel, three-eighths; and Andrew, one-eighth. Both John and Samuel participated in the management, which was never satisfactory to both of these parties. Frequent difficulties occurred between them, but were tided over without coming to blows. For the past six years John and Samuel have never spoken except on business matters, and generally in anger. As there were no witnesses to the interview between the brothers to-day which led to this sanguinary and tragic culmination, it is difficult to state just what occurred. Samuel lies in the cold embrace of death and John paces the stone floor of a prison, convening with his own conscience.

THE SLAYER GIVES HIMSELF UP.

Immediately after the killing John Black walked up to the County Jail and surrendered himself into the custody of the Sheriff, and was locked within the wall of the prison.

To a reporter of this paper he stated that his act was committed in self-defense, and that his life had been frequently threatened during the past six years by his brother, now deceased. That at various times he had been assaulted with heavy weapons, such as pieces of iron and heavy tools, but heretofore he had been in such positions as enabled him to escape without defending himself with a weapon. That to-day all avenues of escape was shut off and that he was compelled to kill his brother.

STANDING OF THE BLACKS.

The standing of the Blacks in this community has always been good. They have both resided on the Comstock for a long time, and have been in business here, and have always been looked upon as law-abiding citizens, and this terrible tragedy was as little expected by those who knew the brothers as that their bickerings, which were almost incessant, would cease. Samuel was a man of very tender sympathies and noted for his kindly disposition. John is of rather sterner mold, but both men bore the most honorable reputations.

Samuel is a widower and leaves no children. John is married and leaves a wife and four children in Oakland, Cal., who are dependent upon him for support.

This combination of two of the fastest strains of blood this country has ever produced cannot fail to trot fast, and be one of the most popular breeding stallions to be found. This colt has grown very fast, and is large for his age, but well-proportioned and symmetrical, and has not been worked for speed on account of his rapid growth. He shows enough speed to warrant the belief that he will maintain the high opinion we have of him. The first time he was shown at the California State Fair he took the premium for the

Best Standard-Bred Trotting Colt

In the Sweepstakes. This colt is offered for the sum of $600, which is lower by 50 per cent. than any colt of equal breeding ever brought that we know of.

They Had Grown.

The most indignant man in town to-day was a well-known butcher who had just received a carload of cattle from Winnemucca. After unloading and driving them to a corral he caused the atmosphere to assume a sulphurous hue with his curses. Rushing to the telegraph office he sent a dispatch to the consignor, which said: "Won't receive consignment; I ordered veals." In a short time the answer came. It read: "Can't help it; they were veals when they left here; next time you order send wagons. They have grown since shipped." It is perhaps needless to say that the animals were shipped on the Central Pacific.

MUD LAKE.

A CONCISE AND INTERESTING DESCRIPTION.

Regular Correspondence GAZETTE.]

WADSWORTH, May 4, 1888.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—In 1876, John J. Powell wrote: "Lying parallel to Pyramid lake, and a little to the east of it, is a long narrow sheet of water which has been dignified with the title of Winnemucca lake. It is not a lake in the ordinary acceptation of the term, as it does not exist all the year round. Indeed, it is only in the wet season that it exists at all; and then it is caused by the overflowing of Pyramid lake, which, at its southern end overflows the low neck of land which separates it from Winnemucca lake."

The description given by Senator Powell would do, perhaps, for Mud lake as it appeared some twenty-five years ago, but to look at this magnificent sheet of water as it is to-day, one is inclined to believe with Dan DeQuille that the name "Mud" lake is a misnomer.

A short time ago in an article to the GAZETTE I wrote: "The surface of Pyramid lake is gradually lowering, while there seems to be a corresponding rise in the waters of Mud or Winnemucca lake. I have heard that the Indians claim that the surface of these bodies of water changes about every quarter of a century, etc. I will endeavor to learn the facts on my next visit to the reservation." In that article, I have facts to prove the truth of the assertion.

Dan DeQuille took the matter up and in an article in the Enterprise gave the reason for the drying up of Mud lake a quarter of a century ago, but as he did not explain the present condition of things, I will do so, pursuant to promise. The sawmills along the Truckee discharge their sawdust and other waste material into the stream which carries it along to the entrance of the lakes. Owing to the fact that the stream enters Pyramid lake direct, this waste material was stranded at the mouth of Mud lake slough, where it formed a bar or shoal high enough and strong enough to dam the water back into its proper channel, and cause all of it to flow into Pyramid lake. The natural result was that Pyramid became larger and spread until the water backed up to the bar which closed Mud lake slough. It burst the barrier, formed a broader inlet and rushed to repose in the former basin, again forming Winnemucca lake. While the channel was closed, the water in Winnemucca lake evaporated, and the basin became a mud hole in time for some one, forgetful of its former grandeur to dub it "Mud lake," for Senator Powell to describe it as he did; for the writers of the "History of Nevada" to come after, even when it had regained its strength and beauty, and fall into another of the many mistakes which mars their work.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once wrote what has since been called a "prose masterpiece" entitled "Compensation," in which, among many other things that embellish his essay, he holds that in nature everything has its opposite.

For everything that has been missed something has been gained; for everything that has been lost, something has been found.

The case of these two lakes is an illustration in nature of the above. Mud lake for a time lost its all; Pyramid lake lost its beauty by acquiring size. Now, Mud lake, by losing, has gained and continues to gain, and as it receives the more is its beauty enhanced. Pyramid has such surroundings that it appears to much better advantage with smaller volume of water. But to proceed with the explanation: What happened to Mud Lake twenty-five years ago is now happening to Pyramid lake. The inlet to the latter is being closed by a bar of sand and saw-dust, and the lake is receiving but about "one-fifth" of the Truckee's water. Evaporation is playing it part and Pyramid will soon be a wreck unless something is done by nature or the Government. Even the Indians realize this, as they have built a dam to divert some of the water from the inlet to Mud lake. It stands them in hand to do this as Pyramid lake is wholly within the confines of their reservation, while Mud lake is wholly without.

It stands to reason that my theory advanced in a former article is correct. Mud lake will continue to rise until the water backs far enough to clear the bar to Pyramid, when there will be a rise in Pyramid lake and a lowering in Mud lake. There can be but one other change: The water may rise far enough in Mud lake to overflow a ridge of low hills at the northern boundary and flood the country to the north or spread if it finds another basin.

To-day Mud lake is a beautiful sheet of water, extending sixty miles north and south and averaging twelve miles east and west.

We arrived at McCormack's at 6 P. M. The lake lay before us as a vast mirror. To the southeast and west the blue dome of the sky was relieved by stretches of cirrus clouds, masses of fleecy whiteness, millions of bale of the snowiest cotton, which seemed too dainty, exquisite and frail to be placed at such a distance in the sky. To the north the clouds rolled over and over to the zenith, where they hung seemingly suspended by some invisible force, and waiting to robe the maidens of our party in a bridal veil. At 11 o'clock the moon appeared above the horizon and we took to the boats. Moonlight on the lake. Fair Luna was so generous with her light that we could see the pelican flying overhead with lazy motion, the graceful gull seeking some undisturbed heaven of rest, the awkward mud-hen splashing the water in its haste to evade the intruding boats. Returning to seek our couches, sweet song echoes accompanied us and dismissed us with their benediction.

The next morning Felix McCormack, the genial host, said he would take the GAZETTE man and show him how to fish. He took a trowl and three minnows. "Why, Mac," said the scribe, "I am not going out with only three minnows. If you want to show me how to fish, you had better take some more bait."

"How many fish do you want?" asked my host.

I remarked that ten would do.

"Get aboard then."

I got aboard wondering what kind of "grub" the boys had been giving him. He took the oars, rowed down the stream about 200 yards from the house, and said he would try his luck. He put a minnow on the hook, dropped it over the boat, only letting out five feet of line. He stepped back to take his seat, but changed his mind as the line was jerked in a spirited manner. Splash! splash!! as with a flounder, number one, a beautiful two-pound silver trout, was hauled in. Number two and number three followed about a second apart.

"Now, cuss you," said I, "if you had brought some more minnows and less of that other bait, we could have some fish."

He did not venture a reply but smiled as he took out his penknife, cut a piece from one of the captured fish, baited his hook and dropped her over. Gentle reader, McCormack hauled out eighteen silver trout averaging two pounds each, inside of ten minutes.

I have heard of catching fish, but had never heard, much less seen a man catch trout with trout, and that at the rate of two a minute with a single line of five feet.

Ask Dr. Dawson about fishing in Mud lake. Ask Charley Stoddard or Bob Gordon, and they will vouch for the truth of this statement, as they have done some good fishing there. In an idle hour drop down and see for yourselves; McCormack will take you to the lake and you will find that hereafter you will prefer Mud lake to many of the other resorts which you frequent. In my next I will describe the Indian pow-wow, or Que-wee dance.

N. A. HUMMEL.

DICK PADDOCK'S RUSE.

How a Well-Known Comstock Fighter "Potted" His Man.

In an article in the San Francisco Examiner of the 29th ult., Allen Kelly, formerly of Virginia City but now city editor of the paper above-named, gives some good hints on "how to pack a gun" and among other illustrations tells the following concerning Dick Paddock, a character well-known on the Comstock: "The first marked improvement on the hip-pocket scheme was made by the accomplished gunfighters of Virginia City, Nevada. Dick Paddock who was killed with his partner, Tom Hughes, by Officer MacDonald in the Delta saloon, was the introducer of the sack-coat side-pocket idea, and the first to demonstrate its marked advantages. Dick's inventive faculty was stimulated, no doubt, by the advent of Farmer Peel, a bad man with a gun, who skillfully perforated Dick's exposed edges while the latter was seeking shelter behind an awning-post. The farmer was very quick on the draw, could shoot as well drunk as he could sober, and altogether was a man against whom it was well to take every precaution.

"One evening Dick sat behind the stove in a saloon, quietly smoking and minding his own business, when a drunken ruffian, who had made a big winning a faro, entered and began making things hum. The ruffian flourished a big pistol and ordered everybody up to take a drink, threatening to kill all who should refuse. He wantonly knocked one man down with the weapon, and it was evident that he was becoming deadly dangerous.

"Paddock sat tilted back in his chair, with his hat pulled over his brows and his hands carelessly thrust in the side pockets of his sack-coat, apparently paying no attention to the ruffian. The latter saw him and ordered him up to the bar. Paddock did not move. The bully swaggered up in front of him and said: 'Will you drink with me, —— —— your —— soul —— —— you —— —— ——?'

"'No, I won't,' replied Paddock, without moving or raising his head.

"'Then I'll blow your ——'

"There was a muffled report and the bully doubled up on the floor with a bullet through his abdomen. Dick would not have revealed his new trick but the bystanders were quick to see a thing of that kind, and it was not long before every gun-fighter on the Comstock had a sack-coat with big side-pockets."

Another Richmond.

The Battle Mountain Central Nevadan says: "R. L. Fulton would make a strong candidate for Congress, and it is the belief of this journal, that he would accept the nomination if it was tendered to him at the coming Republican Convention. He has a good record and is an able, competent man, who, if nominated, would carry the strength of his party and if elected, would serve the people of Nevada well as a representative."

State Land Office.

During the week ending May 4th twenty-six applications for State land were filed, embracing 6,623.21 acres. Cash receipts were: Payments on applications, $1,665.45 payments on contracts, $718.88; interest payments on contracts, $2,341.23; total, $4,725.56. Eighteen township plats were completed, with abstracts and forwarded to the County Assessor of Lander county.

That feeling of weariness so often experienced in the spring, results from a sluggish condition of the blood which, being impure, does not quicken with the changing season. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by vitalizing and cleansing the blood, strengthens and invigorates the system.

Why cough and suffer with a cold, when Fryer's Abetene Cough Balsam will give immediate relief? (Contains no Opium.) Price, 75 cents. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene preparations bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic for correcting irregularities of the stomach and bowels. Gentle, yet thorough in their action, they cure constipation, stimulate the appetite and digestive organs, and reinvigorate the system.

AN ENGINE ATTACHED.

The Means Adopted By a Reno Firm to Collect a Bill.

About one week ago Chamberlain & Thyes received from W. H. Jennison, who keeps a saloon at the end of the track of the Nevada & California Railroad, time checks of men working at the front, amounting to $62.50, as partial payment for money owing to them for liquors furnished the sender. The time checks up to that time were considered as good as checks on a solvent bank; had been so received by the railroad company, but when the last batch was presented the officials refused point-blank to cash them, and finally said that they would only be paid at the end of a lawsuit. While averse to taking such extreme measures Chamberlain & Thyes were forced to take up the gauntlet thrown down and accordingly placed the matter in the hands of R. H. Lindsay, who had attachment papers issued, which were placed in the hands of Constable Upson for service. The officer waited until the train came in from the north last evening, when he served an attachment upon the engine, run it into the round-house and placed a keeper in charge.

J. M. Fulton of the company protested against the proceeding and offered to give a bond, but Mr. Lindsay was firm and said while he was perfectly willing to accept a bond in open court so that his clients would be protected he did not propose to allow the engine to be released, for if he did, circumstances, one of which was the railroad was not a corporation, but a private enterprise, might compel him to serve papers on Moran Brothers, the owners, in New York. His propositions evidently did not meet with favor, for up to the hour of going to press the engine was still guarded by the keeper and his salary of five dollars a day charged on the debit side of the ledger of the company.

The railroad officials do not deny that it is liable for the amount the time-checks call for, but have taken this measure in the hope of breaking up the business of selling liquor to men working at the front, claiming that it has a demoralizing effect upon the force and precludes the possibility of efficient work being done. For that reason they have determined to cash no more checks endorsed by the liquor seller.

The case will probably be tried in Justice Young's court Monday, and the outcome will be watched with great interest, both by the advocates of temperance and the legal fraternity

BRUTAL HENDERSON.

His Latest Exploit Likely to Land Him in Prison.

The San Francisco Chronicle of yesterday recounts the achievements of Henry Henderson in Reno, which, while not correct in many particulars, will show the San Francisco authorities what a despicable wretch they have to deal with. In regard to his latest exploit, it says:

"There is said to be no question of Henderson's guilt as charged by the step-daughter, who is now 15 years of age, and that he had terrorized her into submission to his desires. It is probable that a charge of rape will be preferred against him. Meantime Secretary Hunter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children is wondering what to do with the little children. None of the Orphan Asylums, it is stated, will harbor colored children, and he has not yet been able to find a proper home for them. The unfortunate step-daughter remains in the lying-in hospital on Sixth street, where she was brought by Henderson."

The Palace Dry Goods Store.

Monday, May 7th, the Palace Dry Goods and Carpet House will place on sale the following special bargains: Twenty-five dozen ladies' colored border, hemstitched handkerchiefs, fast colors, 5 cents each, actual value, 12½ cents; 20 dozen misses' solid colored, full finished, ribbed hose, at 12½ cents a pair; sizes run from 5 to 8½; 30 dozen ladies' white cape collars, all sizes, at 5 cents each, usual price, 12½ cents; 15 pieces Amoskeag check ginghams, fast colors, at 6¼ cents per yard. Ladies should improve this opportunity and secure some of these bargains.

Preparing for the Change.

The indications now are that the Virginia City office of the Western Union Telegraph Company will be removed to Reno shortly, as the office here to-day received a complete set of Wheatstone instruments and a set of duplex. Whether there will be any changes in the personnel of the office here is not yet known, but it is to be hoped that the present accommodating and courteous manager, E. W. Black, will be retained in some responsible position.

Nipped in the Bud.

Is it not better to nip consumption, the greatest scourge of humanity, in the bud, than to try and stay its progress on the brink of the grave. A few doses of California's most useful production, Santa Abie, the king of consumption, will relieve, and a thorough treatment will cure. Nasal catarrh, too often the forerunner of consumption, can be cured by California Cat-R-Cure. These remedies are sold and fully warranted by Osburn & Shoemacher at $1, or three for $2.50.

The Democratic Primary.

The Democratic primary passed off very quietly to-day, and the following ticket was voted straight. For delegates to the State Convention: A. D. Griffin, P. H. Mulcahy, Richard Ryland, J. B. Williams, J. T. Longabaugh, J. E. Phillips, C. A. Jones and John Hogan.

Dr. Prentice, the eminent specialist, is meeting with greater success than he anticipated and is compelled to extend his stay here for an indefinite period. For an account of some of his recent remarkable cures see Monday's issue of the GAZETTE

The Kentucky State Republican Convention by a vote of 322 to 293, refused to instruct the Chicago delegates in favor of Sherman.

An air of gloom pervaded the town to-day. The Democrats were holding their primary election.

The stage for northern California is now run on schedule time and the trip to Cedarville is made in 41 hours.

It is said that in the event of Bartine failing to secure the nomination for Supreme Judge, he will be tendered the nomination for State Senator by the Ormsby Republicans.

Hall McAllister, the noted lawyer, and Frank Newlands, who is equally noted from the fact that he is one of the executors of the Sharon estate, passed through to the Comstock yesterday.

The Postmaster-General has allowed Postmaster Hagerman $100 per annum, commencing June 1st, and $200 per annum additional for clerical assistance in separating the mail, commencing April 1st.

The Virginia Chronicle complains of the suddenness with which the $300,000 paid out every payday on the Comstock vanishes, and says that that vast amount has no marked revivifying effect on the local trade.

At the present rate of expenditure in maintaining the government of Storey county, in 1889—without collecting a single dollar from taxpayers in that year—there will remain a surplus of $40,000 in the treasury on January 1, 1890.

Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Turrettin and Mrs. Germaine of Winnemucca arrived in Reno last night. These ladiers will remain a month in Reno, enjoying our delightful climate and whatever else there may be to enjoy. They are the guests of their sisters, Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Cobb, South Side.

A Rare Chance for Investment and a Home.

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

FACING THE TRUCKEE—THE ARISTOCRATIC RIVERSIDE AVENUE DRIVEWAY—SPLENDID SEWERAGE—HEALTHFUL LOCATION AND SAFE FROM FIRE.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the Tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town, this addition faces the beautiful Truckee River, and Riverside avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is, it is more exempt from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before buying elsewhere, Parties will do well to look at these Lots.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AYER'S PILLS

CURE HEADACHE.

Headaches are usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, foul stomach, or other derangements of the digestive system, and may be easily cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Mrs. Mary A. Scott, Portland, Me., writes: "I had suffered dreadfully from Sick Headache, and thought myself incurable. Disorder of the stomach caused it. Ayer's Pills cured me entirely."

CURE BILIOUSNESS.

John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebr., writes: "I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice. I was so dangerously ill, that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor. I feel certain that I owe my recovery to your invaluable Pills."

CURE INDIGESTION.

Ayer's Pills act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, influencing healthful action, imparting strength, and eradicating disease. G. W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T., writes: "I have suffered from Dyspepsia and Liver troubles for years past. I found no permanent relief, until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, which have effected a complete cure."

CURE RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is among the most painful of the disorders arising from vitiated blood and derangement of the digestive and biliary organs. Ayer's Pills relieve and cure Rheumatism when other remedies fail. S. M. Spencer, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I was confined to my bed, with Rheumatism, three months, but, after using a few boxes of Ayer's Pills, became a well man."

CURE COUT.

S. Lansing, Yonkers, N. Y., writes: "Recommended to me as a cure for chronic Costiveness, Ayer's Pills have relieved me not only from that trouble, but also from Gout. If every victim of the disease would heed only three words of mine, I could banish Gout from the land. Those words would be, 'Try Ayer's Pills.'"

CURE PILES.

Piles are induced by habitual constipation, debility, indigestion, or a morbid condition of the liver. A cure is best effected by the use of Ayer's Pills. John Lazarus, St. John, N. B., writes: "I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only cured me of that disagreeable disorder, but gave me new life and health."

Selecting a Cow.

A model useful dairy cow may be known at a glance by an expert. She has a fine, long head, broad between the eyes, and a thin, wide muzzle; the eyes are large, and of a mild expression; the neck is thin and long; the ears are thin and covered with a deep yellow skin; the forequarters are light and thin; and the whole body has much the shape of a wedge, increasing in size to the rear; the legs are thin with flat bone; the belly is large and deep, with great capacity for food; the back is broad and straight, and the ribs well rounded toward the rear; the bones of the rump are wide apart; the tail is long and thin; the thighs are thin and are set widely apart; the udder is large and full, especially behind; the teats are of good size, and set far apart upon a broad, level udder, and the milk vein, so called, which is the large vein leading from the udder and passing into the abdomen, and which is an indication of the amount of blood circulating through the milk glands, and contributes to the milk secretion, should be full and tortuous in its course. A fine horn, a deep yellow skin, and a general elegance of form, without any heaviness or beefiness in any part, are also important indications of good quality in a cow for the dairy.—[American Agriculturist.

Feeding Horses.

In comparison with the ox, the stomach of the horse is very small. It is claimed that the stomach of the ox has a capacity of two hundred and fifty quarts while that of the horse is only about sixteen quarts, so whatever is in the stomach after it is filled must be expelled into the intestines if feeding is continued. In that case if the process of digestion is incomplete the result is an expulsion of the food without serving the purpose for which it was intended. For that reason, in the use of concentrated food in connection with coarse fodder, there must be an exercise of judgment or the feeding will do little good. Thus oats may be fed to a horse and followed by hay to such an extent as to expel the oats wholly from the stomach, in which case the only benefit derived is from the amount of digestion going on during the period of eating. The office of the stomach being to digest the nitrogenous portion of the food, and as a stomach full of oats contains about four or five times as much nitrogenous matter as when filled with hay, either the stomach must secrete its gastric juice five times as fast or the period of digestion must be five times as long. If a concentrated food, like oats is to be fed with hay, the latter should be fed first and then the grains, thus giving ample time for digestion between feeding.—[New England Farmer.

Judging Draft Horses.

We take the following from a foreign exchange:

The difference between the English and Scotch systems of judging draft horses has often excited curiosity. The Englishman begins with the body, and sometimes would seem to stick there, taking only casual glances at the lower extremities of the limbs. The Scotchman, on the other hand, begins with the feet, and just as seldom lets his eyes rise to the body as the Englishman allows his to descend to the hoofs. The Scotchman argues that without sound, well-set limbs, flat, clean, flinty bone, sloping pasterns, and large, sound feet, a draft horse can be of little use for hard work, however big and handsome his body may be. The Englishman will not venture to dispute the truth of these contentions, but he finds that the big horses as a rule, bring the biggest prices, and so with him size and form of body have come to be considerations of first importance. It is hardly necessary to say that it is undesirable to pursue either of these extremes. Good legs and feet are undoubtedly essentials in draft horses, but we fear Scotchmen are, in many cases, carrying their notion too far, confining attention too exclusively to legs and feet, and neglecting size and substance of body. Size will always be an important element in determining the value of a draft horse. Other things being equal, the bigger horse will always bring more money than the smaller, and if only the greater weight is properly disposed over the frame of the animal, it is, no doubt, worth more money. On the other hand, a huge body, however handsome it may be, is of little value in front of a big load if the limbs or feet are weak and unsound.
